

Tank Storage Asia 2015

Tank Storage Asia brings the Asian bulk liquid storage industry together, allowing leading manufacturers & suppliers to showcase their expert products and services to a captive audience of buyers. With investment pouring in and demand continually on the rise, bulk liquid storage is an increasingly important infrastructure in Asia which has direct impact on regional trade.

The annual exhibition and conference attracts industry professionals from oil, petrochemical, transport and logistics companies, all looking to connect directly with suppliers and manufacturers displaying innovative technology. The conference programme will also discuss industry trends and future plans for the region.
