

Tank Storage Germany

The leading event for the German tank storage industry.

Tank Storage Germany brings the European bulk liquid storage industry together, allowing leading manufacturers & suppliers to showcase their expert products and services to a captive audience of buyers.

The annual exhibition and conference attracts industry professionals from oil, petrochemical, transport and logistics companies, all looking to connect directly with suppliers and manufacturers displaying innovative technology. The programme will also discuss industry trends and future plans for the region.

Appealing to key business professionals in the natural gas, biogas, oil and petrochemical sectors, Tank Storage Germany provides a platform to engage with those otherwise hard-to-meet decision makers.
