

Asia Pacific Fuel Industry Forum 2017

The annual event for fuel wholesale, distribution, retail and contractors across Australia, New Zealand and the Asia Pacific. The Asia Pacific Fuel Industry Forum is specifically designed for all businesses that participate in fuel distribution and retail within Asia Pacific.

Delegates will be informed about the latest industry developments and gain valuable insights into some of the more innovative responses that are being advanced in the face of continuing and significant industry challenges.

Most importantly, delegates will be given an opportunity to network with senior industry experts and meet with suppliers of leading-edge industry services and products.

The Asia Pacific Fuel Industry Forum hosts two concurrent streams catering to both 'fuel retail and distributors' as well as 'fuel contractors' operating within the industry.

Who should attend?

This peak industry event has been created for the operators, decision makers and leaders of fuel businesses. With a delegation ranging from small dealer operated sites to major oil representatives and government officials; this event will attract attendees from downstream petroleum businesses across Australia, New Zealand and Southeast Asia.

The Venue

Melbourne Convention and Exhibition Centre is recognised as Australasia's leading events venue and is located in the heart of Melbourne's Southbank. The APFI Forum will be held in Melbourne Room I and II over the duration of the event. Easily accessible by car and public transport, MCEC is within walking distance of a variety of accommodation options.
