

Vivo Energy opens its second Quikfix Express brand auto repair service

Vivo Energy Mauritius, part of the Vivo Energy network which retails Shell fuels in Africa, has opened the second auto repair station which operates under the Quikfix Express Service brand at a location named Ebène following a previous inauguration at another location named Floréal, according to a company statement published on June 22.

Both locations for automobile repair located within the Vivo Energy sites are the result of a partnership between Vivo Energy Mauritius and ABC Automobile, the company added.

"This offer is aligned with our vision of client service adapted to a permanent sophistication on the side of demand," said Kiran Juwaheer, managing director of Vivo Energy Mauritius.

The first Quikfix Express service point opened in Floréal in August 2014. "After that success, the opening of a new Quikfix Express at a Shell station translates the will of our enterprise to become more accessible to our clients," said Quikfix Chief Manager Alain Ng, according to the Vivo Energy Mauritius statement.

Quikfix Service Centre is a brand created in 2001 by ABC Automobile. It offers diagnostic, repair, general maintenance, battery replacement and all services related to tires.

Vivo Energy Mauritius runs a network of 44 stations. Vivo Energy operates 1,500 service stations in all of Africa.
