

D&H United Fueling Solutions announces acquisitions and new executive team

D&H United Fueling Solutions, Inc. has announced the purchase of assets from D&H Pump and Environmental and United Pump Supply. The combined companies will be known as D&H United Fueling Solutions, Inc.

The executive team has also been modified, with Bo Sasnett, a 30-year industry veteran, joining the company as Chief Executive Officer (CEO). Meanwhile, John Farrell will continue with the company and has been named Chief Operating Officer (COO).

"I am thrilled to be joining John Farrell and the entire team at D&H United Fueling Solutions. The company has a long history and an outstanding reputation in the industry as fueling solutions experts," said Sasnett.

Senior management has partnered with Third Century Investment Associates LP, an Atlanta-based private equity firm, which will provide resources to allow a continued growth of the company.

"Our group is pleased to partner with D&H United Fueling Solutions. The company has an exceptional track record of success as a fueling solutions leader throughout the Southwest," commented Preston Moister, Third Century Founder and Managing Partner.

D&H United Fueling Solutions is a leading provider of services for fueling facilities across the Southwest including equipment sales, installation and construction, repair and service.