

StocExpo Europe announces new conference format

StocExpo Europe 2017 unveils a new conference format for its event in Rotterdam on 28-30 March.

A brand-new conference format has been designed for StocExpo Europe to boost networking and enable terminals, traders, oil majors and investors to learn from one another.

All sessions will begin with 'speed networking', whereby delegates will be encouraged to introduce themselves to the other people at their tables and to exchange business cards. The new roundtable format and networking lunches are designed to ensure delegates maximize networking opportunities with industry peers.

The conference programme will consist of seven expert panel sessions hosting over 30 speakers from oil majors, tank terminals and financial institutions. The exclusive terminal management session on day one brings together senior figures from four of the top independent terminals in Europe.

The remaining panels will focus on terminal safety; growth and investment opportunities throughout the Mediterranean; global supply and demand trends; what to expect from the oil industry; the use of drone technology; and opportunities in the Asian storage market.

Along with the conference, there will be an exhibition with over 200 suppliers and the Global Tank Storage Awards.
