Each year the most influential players and decision makers of the international lubricant industry meet at the “Global Lubricant Week” (October 20-23, 2020, Moscow). We invite you to join them at this event, now in its 11th year. “Global Lubricant Week” has a reputation as the leading conference in the Russian lubricants industry. The caliber of the attendees and the sponsors, coupled with excellent networking opportunities, unrivalled evening receptions, and a high-level program have “Global Lubricant Week” the reputation it deserves.

“Global Lubricant Week” is the largest industry event in Europe and CIS and annually brings together more than 600 participants.

With the most senior level industry executives coming from more than 25 countries, the “Global Lubricant Week” has become known as the place where deals are done and decisions are being made. This event is a "must" for anyone in this market who is serious about the growth and development of our industry and who wants to have a stake in it.

The 16th “Global Lubricant Conference 2020” (October 21-22, Moscow) is the leading event in the Russian lubricant industry as well as at the lubricant market of CIS and Eastern Europe. Our conference develops first of all as the professional meeting-place, a place for exchange of opinions and information for all players and personalities in this industry. For this we gather together top-managers and leading specialists of Russian and foreign companies – lubricant producers and suppliers, base oils and additive suppliers, OEM’s and large Russian corporate lubricant users. In 2020 the Conference will include a Special Session “Independent Blenders And Additive Companies”.

We also provide excellent opportunities for both holding business talks and informal communication for all the participants during coffee-breaks and evening receptions with refined cuisine. The first day of the conference is traditionally devoted to the discussion of business matters in the lubricant industry. Many topics are presented and discussed on the public only at our conference including strategic plans and forecasts from leading companies. On the second day the technical matters are discussed. You will be informed about the new approaches to lubricants' formulation, about the new solutions to improve effectiveness of your customers.

RPI is also proud to announce the 5th International Conference "Lubricant Market In CIS, Middle East And Asia 2020" (October 22) and the 11th "Global Grease Summit 2020" (October 23) to be held during the "Global Lubricant Week".

Accompanying exhibition of the products, solutions and services for the lubricant industry "Services and Equipment for the Lubricant Industry 2020" will be held during the "Global Lubricant Week".
