

StocExpo Middle East Africa

StocExpo Middle East Africa, the region's leading exhibition and conference and only dedicated event for the bulk liquid storage industry returns to the Dubai World Trade Centre on 26 and 27 April 2017. This year will see new exhibitors, a world-leading CPD-certified conference programme, a newly-launched VIP Club and enhanced features for maximising business and networking opportunities for attendees.

The Middle East and African tank storage sector is developing at a rapid rate, thanks to continued large scale investments, with the UAE alone set to double its storage capacity in the next few years.

The show, which is supported by the UAE Ministry of Energy, Hamriyah Free Zone Authority, ENOC, Fujairah Oil Terminal and other major ports and terminals, will bring top regional oil companies, tank terminal operators, ports, traders, financiers and regulators together with leading manufacturers and suppliers.

Last year StocExpo Middle East Africa attracted around 1,200 industry professionals from 50 different countries, and we expect to exceed this in 2017. Over 80 international and local suppliers will be showcasing a broad range of the latest technologies, new products and valuable industry services, including CTS Middle East, Protego, Emco Wheaton, Loadtec Engineered Systems, Mascoat, and Kanon Loading Equipment. Brand new for 2017, the StocExpo Middle East Africa Conference programme will be CPD Certified as part of our commitment to serving the tank storage community globally.
