

Gas Stations Build Middle East 2018

The rising demand for fuel in the GCC countries have placed a major requirement on the region's fuel operators to up the number of fuel stations significantly (approximately 700 new projects). With governments' urging to meet the growing need, operators are already at work to achieve the targets.

The Gas Stations Build Middle East will discuss design & building considerations, unique projects as well as advanced technologies that can reduce operation cost and optimize energy efficiency. The summit also places emphasis on optimizing user experience via easier payment options and improved forecourt facilities. The summit will bring together fuel retail operators and key stakeholders under one roof while also inviting international expertise.

International technology leaders such as Diyar United Company, Elaflex, Western Global and Gallagher are the key partners and will be showcasing their latest offering to the attendees.
