

Tank Storage Asia 2018

The leading event for the Asian tank storage industry

Consuming more than a third of global crude oil supplies, with over 17,000 tanks and a storage capacity of 220 million m3, Asia's insatiable appetite for oil products makes it a significant hub for the storage sector. With demand for certain oil products continuing to grow, the region is relying more on imports to satisfy this demand, fueling the need for more storage.

Capitalise on the future of tank storage in one of the worlds' most critical storage hubs. Tank Storage Asia, the leading two-day exhibition & conference for the region's oil, gas and petrochemical storage industry, delivers valuable business and networking opportunities and is the perfect opportunity to grow your business and exploit Asia's storage market.
