

Asia Pacific Fuel Industry Forum - APFI 2019

ACAPMA is pleased to announce that the Asia Pacific Fuel Industry Forum will be held at the Melbourne Conference and Exhibition Centre on the 17th and 18th of September 2019.

This event follows highly successful events staged in Auckland during 2018 and Melbourne in 2017 – with the Melbourne event attracting more than 350 senior industry delegates and a jam-packed trade hall.

“We continually strive to make these events ones where delegates walk away with new intelligence that is of benefit to their business in the future, while also providing a quality environment for networking between industry participants and product and services providers”, said ACAPMA CEO Mark McKenzie.

These days, people’s time is very limited and so these industry events must deliver more than a nice meal and a chance to meet industry colleagues, said Mark.

The Asia Pacific Fuel Industry Forum is fast becoming a flagship industry event, providing an opportunity for fuel market participants to discuss contemporary challenges and share intelligence on current and emerging developments that are likely to change the face of our industry in the future.

“The theme of the 2019 event is Fuel Industry Innovation - Technology, Skills and Business Processes and we are putting the final touches on an exciting line-up of speakers”, said Mark.

“As has become customary, the 2019 event will also include the Annual Contractors Forum where the focus of the discussion will be on the professionalisation of the industry – hopefully, including the launch of new nationally recognised training standards for petroleum equipment works and maintenance.

The 2019 event programme will be formally launched when the new website goes live in late January 2019.

In the meantime, mark the date in your calendar!
