

Singapore: Sinopec rolls out second fuel station

Asia's largest oil refiner China Petroleum & Chemical Corp, or Sinopec, has opened its second overseas petrol station in Singapore.

As part of its overseas expansion plans, the Chinese energy company has launched its second site in Singapore.

The Bukit Timah Station covers an area of 1,857 m^2 . Following the opening of its first fuel station in Singapore, this location also provides SINO X Power gasoline with features of greater fuel-efficiency, stronger driving force and better engine cleaning ability for local customers.

The fuel station adopts Chinese modern elements in its design and integrates green environmental protection.