

Leighton O'Brien expands fuel cleaning business into Asia

The Australian provider of tank testing and cleaning technologies is partnering with Flowco Malaysia.

Leading fuel analytics and field technologies company Leighton O'Brien has expanded its global fuel cleaning operations into South East Asia following a Licensed Service Partnership agreement with fuel retail solutions provider, Flowco Malaysia.

The agreement expands Flowco Malaysia's suite of Leighton O'Brien technologies to include integrity testing, tank cleaning and fuel restoration.

"Through this expanded partnership, we will be able to grow our business in Asia by broadening our services portfolio through Leighton O'Brien's patented fuel cleaning and restoration technologies for underground fuel storage systems.

Leighton O'Brien said Flowco is progressing significant fuel retail market opportunities in the Asian market.
