

Vietnam: PVOIL Vung Ang opens new petrol station

The first petroleum station invested by PVOIL Vung Ang in the Quang Binh province.

PVOIL Vung Ang, a subsidiary of PVOIL, inaugurated a new petrol station at Duc Ninh Dong ward, Quang Binh province's Dong Hoi city.

Construction on the project began on the 1,800 square-meter station in October 2018. PVOIL invested 16.9 billion VND for purchasing land and building project components including operation centre, pump shelter and other supporting facilities which are road, yard, petroleum tank and two Tasuno pumps imported from Japan.

The new station paved the road for the company's plan to expand petroleum station system in Quang Binh province.

PV Oil expects the station to sell 150 cubic meters of petroleum each month.
