

New focus on innovation at Asia's leading event for the tank storage industry

Registration now open for Asia's most innovative tank storage event!

Registration is now open for Tank Storage Asia, the leading event for the Asian bulk liquid storage industry. Visitors can now sign up to see the latest innovations within the Asian storage market when the two-day exhibition and conference returns to Singapore's Marina Bay Sands Expo & Convention Centre on the 25th and 26th September 2019.

The event, which is strategically positioned at the world's second largest storage hub in Singapore, attracts industry professionals each year, including analysts, traders, investors and key players from leading storage operators. The event provides the opportunity to network, share knowledge and host business meetings.

Over 80 industry-leading organisations, such as Matrix Applied Technologies, Cashco, Inc. and KHI Engineering Pte Ltd., have already signed-up to showcase their latest products and services to senior level buyers from across the region. The event will bring visitors and exhibitors together, providing a unique opportunity for brands to generate valuable leads and drive business forward.

Those attending will be able to see the latest technology from within the industry at the Innovation Zone. Situated on the show floor, the area will host a range of product demonstrations and allow visitors to explore the latest in product and service innovation.

Returning for 2019, the Singapore Pavilion, hosted in collaboration with Singapore Manufacturing Federation, offers visitors the chance to meet with businesses specifically from the region. Special exhibitor rates are available for exhibitors from Singapore.

Tank Storage Asia has backing from respected names in the industry. The event is sponsored by Horizon Terminals, Singapore Manufacturing Federation and Stolthaven Terminals as well as over 40 of the industry's leading associations and media publications.

Visitors will have access to in-depth sessions and debates as part of the CPD-certified conference programme. Industry experts including CEO's, Terminal Managers and Oil Major representatives, from companies such as Petronas and Oiltanking, will discuss the key trends shaping the industry. This thought-leadership will inspire attendees with new ideas and growth plans to implement in their businesses.

Mark Rimmer, Tank Storage Portfolio Divisional Director, commented: "Tank Storage Asia is the only event in the world dedicated to the Asian storage market and with crude oil trade routes opening in the east, there is no doubt about the profitability of the market – the industry is thriving in the region. This reality is pushing developments in new technology, materials and automation equipment. The fact that the results of such pioneering product and service developments will be present on the show floor, and that the thought-processes which led to these will be discussed, is something Tank Storage Asia is immensely proud of.”

Tank Storage Asia will host several networking opportunities. A networking party on the first day will give visitors the chance to meet representatives from industry-leading organisations exhibiting their latest products and services. Those who attend will be able to enjoy food, drink and entertainment, whilst discussing the latest market conditions, as well as overall industry trends. A terminal operators lounge, hosted by Tank Storage Magazine, will be a dedicated space for industry professionals to meet with one another, network and relax with complimentary refreshments. An official one-to-one networking platform will also be available for visitors. This will provide users with the opportunity to set up meetings with suppliers and prospects, and manage their schedules during the event.
