

Repsol opens the first motorbike petrol stations in Spain

Moto Stop is a specific service for motorcyclists that has started operating in a selection of 25 Repsol service stations throughout Spain.

Spanish motorcyclists now have a specific service for them at certain Repsol petrol stations. Some 25 sites include Repsol Moto Stop facilities specially tailored to facilitate refuelling, maintenance and a resting place for motorcycle users.

"The surface can be slippery, even more so if it has rained or if some other fuel has been spilled, and there are not always specific installations for the conditioning of your bike," says Repsol about the difficulties encountered by motorcyclists in conventional stations.

Repsol service stations with Moto Stop space have many improvements to their facilities to make life easier for motorcyclists from the moment they arrive, with exclusive parking areas monitored by video camera and milled surfaces to prevent accidental slipping at the refuelling area.

If riders wish to control their tyre pressures, Repsol Moto Stop service stations also have compressors fitted with L-shaped valves to facilitate operation on motorcycles.
