

Spain: Grupo HAM opens its first LNG station in Murcia

The gas station can be used to refuel heavy vehicles.

Grupo HAM opens its first liquefied natural gas (LNG) refuelling station in Murcia.

The Murcia LNG HAM gas station is a modern mobile refueling station with a deposit of 60m³ which can supply liquefied natural gas to heavy vehicles. Customers can access the mobile station 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, using any credit or debit card, or using the HAM card for professionals, in the case of companies and self-employed.

HAM currently has several mobile service stations, distributed in different parts of the state, thus allowing access to compressed natural gas and liquefied natural gas, in locations where customers do not have easy access to fuel.

With the opening of the Murcia LNG HAM mobile station, HAM Group currently has a network of 37 refuelling stations.
