

Petro Realty Corporation, C-Store Investments merge

Companies expect to maximize their sales proceeds, divest from poorly performing properties, and assist with mergers and acquisitions.

C-Store Investments (CSI) and Petro Realty Corporation (PRC), boutique consulting firms that provide advisory services to the New England convenience store industry, announced the merger of the two companies. The new joint company will be referred to as C-Store Investments (CSI).

"I have always loved helping clients buy and sell their gas station/c-store properties and maximize their gains or return on investment. I feel that by joining forces with Ken we are going to take this to the next level and become strategic partners with our clients, providing them value in many more ways than simply buying and selling," according to President of PRC, Aaron Cutler.

"I have worked with Aaron over the past several years and find that we complement one another very well. With our combined 50+ years of experience in the New England c-store industry, we can navigate our clients through the transaction process in a professional manner," stated President of CSI, Ken Currier.
