

Thailand: PTT to install PCL's air towers in fuel stations

Local distributor Prime Parizon will install PCL's Air Towers on state-run PTT's service station forecourts.

PTT is partnering with PCL for a contract supply of air towers to its fuel stations network in Thailand. Prime Parizon will be the local partner for distribution.

PCL's Air Towers feature stainless-steel casing, with all components, from the housing through to the tyre inflator and hose.

"We designed this sleek and minimalistic-looking product especially for the Far East market," said PCL Export Business Development Manager, Jonathan Robinson. "It is a very low maintenance unit, so the design of the unit, combined with the service offering from Prime Parizon, makes it a favourable option for PTT."

"The quality of PCL's tyre inflation products is excellent, and they worked closely with us to develop a bespoke specification to meet market requirements here in Thailand, resulting in a tailor-made Air Tower and the ideal product offering to suit the end user,” said Prime Parizon Sales Manager, Anusorn lawpanich.

Prime Parizon aims to develop the market in Thailand by becoming the main supplier of PCL’s products to oil companies, as this will enable them to stock larger suppliers of spare parts, some calibration equipment, and also provide cost-effective annual check and maintenance packages.
