

Eesti Gaas becomes one of the largest LNG suppliers in Baltics

Eesti Gaas is the largest truck-to-ship bunkering operator in Northern Europe.

Last year, Eesti Gaas increased its sales of LNG to 263 GWh, which secured it a position as one of the largest sellers of LNG in the Baltic and Finnish region.

“While we only used to supply Tallink’s Megastar with LNG in 2018, last year we acquired a number of new clients in Finland, Latvia and Russia. Our largest projects involved providing assistance in the commissioning of the new Novatek’s LNG plant in Vysotsk and the start of bunkering in the ports of Hanko and Helsinki,” said Kalev Reiljan, member of the management board.

“As much as a fifth of the passenger transportation through the port of Tallinn these days is arranged with the use of environmentally friendly LNG fuel, and with the addition of Tallink’s new MyStar shuttle, we will be able to refer to Tallinn-Helsinki line as a truly green line,” Reiljan noted.

Eesti Gaas is the largest truck-to-ship bunkering operator in Northern Europe. By now, the company has performed more than 2400 bunkering operations for Tallink’s Megastar and UECC cargo vessels in the ports of Tallinn, Helsinki and Hanko.

Eesti Gaas supplies its clients with LNG from Russia, Finland, and Lithuania.
