To salute healthcare heroes across Canada, Imperial is providing up to $2 million in free fuel vouchers to frontline nurses, paramedics and doctors as part of its Heroes Campaign launched in response to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Through this promotion, the company is offering 80,000 digital vouchers, each worth $25, to healthcare workers currently providing critical care across Canada. They are redeemable at more than 2,000 Esso- and Mobil-branded stations across Canada through the company's free Speedpass+ mobile payment app.

"On behalf of Imperial employees across the country, we are privileged to recognize these brave professionals through this unprecedented time. Alongside our peers in Canada's oil and natural gas industry, know we are here to support you. Canadians will weather this storm together and emerge stronger," said Brad Corson, chairman, president and chief executive officer of Imperial.
