

Spain: New Supercor Stop&Go station opens in Jerez

With this new opening, Supercor Stop&Go operates 64 sites in Andalusia region.

Repsol and El Corte Inglés progress with their plans to create the largest network of convenience stores in Spain by opening a new Supercor Stop&Go service station in a El Corte Inglés mall located in Jerez. With this new opening, Supercor Stop&Go operates 64 sites in Andalusia region.

The Supercor Stop&Go brand, which is currently present in more than 380 service stations, has launched a new store concept featuring an assortment of El Corte Inglés products.

Repsol and El Corte Inglés have been collaborating for more than 20 years on different initiatives, such as the co-management of service stations through their joint company Gespevesa or the supply of electricity and gas by Repsol to customers of El Corte Inglés. In addition, both companies maintain a cross-promotion and offers policy for their customers.
