

Bliss opens ninth eco-friendly car wash

Southern California based Bliss Car Wash has opened its ninth eco-friendly car washes.

CEO and Founder Vahid David Delrahim donated $6,100 to Wells Bring Hope as part of his pledge to provide a new freshwater well to the nonprofit with the opening of each new car wash.

The new Bliss car washes use technology that continually monitors freshwater usage, keeping it down to approximately 24 gallons per car wash, and using 70% reclaimed water. Bliss uses cleaning products that are biodegradable and utilizes low-energy consuming machinery.

Delrahim has been working with the nonprofit, Wells Bring Hope for several years in its mission to bring safe water to rural villages in Niger, West Africa.

“Yet another donation from Vahid David Delrahim continues to make a difference in the lives of those living in Africa without access to clean water,” said Barbara Goldberg, Founder and President of Wells Bring Hope. “His commitment to this cause is truly exemplary. As his business grows, so does his generosity.”
