

Spain: Ballenoil to open two new gas stations in Madrid

Ballenoil currently operates over 120 sites throughout Spain and expects to reach 150 locations by 2021.

Ballenoil continues with its expansion plans in Spain and will open two new fuel stations in the Community of Madrid. The two new sites will be located in Carabanchel and San Sebastián de los Reyes, where Ballenoil already operates three branded stations.

"They will implement the same hygiene measures that apply to the rest of our sites, to safeguard the safety of our customers as the second wave of Covid-19 threatens the region and the whole country", said Ballenoil founding partner, David Querejeta.

The independent fuel station operator Ballenoil currently operates more than 120 locations throughout Spain and plans to reach 150 sites by 2021.
