Ampol, Exxonmobil enter lubricants marketing alliance in Australia

Ampol will blend, distribute and market Mobil lubricants to retail and business customers in Australia starting in 2021.

Ampol and ExxonMobil have entered a marketing alliance, where Ampol will blend, distribute and market Mobil lubricants in Australia.

Ampol will supply Mobil lubricants to retail and business customers through a combination of direct and distributor channels.

The manufacturing, distribution and marketing conversion to Mobil lubricants will commence in 2021 and take approximately 12 months to complete.

The alliance will be supported by Ampol's strategic infrastructure positions and supply chain expertise in Australia, with its local production and import capabilities to support the delivery of Mobil's range of lubricants to the Australian market.

ExxonMobil is one of the world's largest suppliers and marketers of fuels and has been a leader in lubricant technology for 150 years.

The ExxonMobil Australia group has been operating in Australia since 1895.
