

Ukraine: OKKO opens two new fuel stations in Kyiv region

OKKO operates now five stations in Bila Tserkva city and 28 in Kyiv region.

Ukraine's network of fuel filling stations OKKO has expanded its footprint in Kyiv region with the launching of two new locations this week in Bila Tserkva city. With these openings, OKKO operates five filling stations in Bila Tserkva, and a total of 28 in the Kyiv region.

Both stations in Bila Tserkva city are equipped with four fuel dispensers. The locations also feature convenience stores with warm and fresh ready meals, as well as coffee service at any time of the day.

OKKO fuel station network (Galnaftogaz Concern) is part of the OKKO Group and is one of the largest filling networks in Ukraine, with about 400 filling facilities. OKKO also operates the largest network of on-road catering establishments under the brands Hot café, A la minute, Pasta Mia and Meiwei.
