

France: Air Liquide launches third GNV station in Brittany region

The Noyal-sur-Vilaine opening brings Air Liquide's total network of GNV filling stations in France to 22 locations.

Air Liquide's network of gas natural vehicle (GNV) filling stations continues to grow in France with the opening of the company's third location in the Brittany region. Located in Noyal-sur-Vilaine, a few kilometres East of Rennes, the new NGV station will serve CNG and LNG, according to biognv.bzh.

The Noyal-sur-Vilaine location is identical to Air Liquide's station deployed earlier this year in Ploufragan, Côtes d'Armor, with three fueling lanes.

Open 24 hours a day, it accepts various fuel cards, including those of Shell LNG and Romac Fuel. Operators interested in refuelling at the station will be asked to sign a refuelling contract with Air Liquide, says biognv.bzh.

Air Liquide's current network of GNV filling stations in France comprises 22 locations.
