

Ukraine: OKKO opens two new stations in Odesa region

The two new additions raise OKKO filling station count to 19 locations in the Odesa region, and to a total of 417 sites across Ukraine.

Ukraine's filling station network OKKO inaugurated two new locations in the Odesa region at the beginning of September, making it the company's third opening in the region in 2021, according to a press release.

The new vul. Bugaivska station features 6 fuel dispensers serving all types of fuel, including gasoline, BF and liquified natural gas. The Cosmonaut Komarova street location is equipped with 12 fuel dispensers delivering gasoline and diesel.

Both filling stations count also with a convenience store and a cafe with ready meals.

In 2021, OKKO launched new locations in Bila Tserkva, Dnipro and Lviv.

A subsidiary of the OKKO Group (Galnaftogaz Concern), OKKO is today one of the largest filling networks in Ukraine with over 410 facilities. OKKO also operates the largest network of on-road catering establishments under the brands Hot café, A la minute, Pasta Mia and Meiwei.
