

PetroForum Africa plays host to 45 of Africa's leading oil companies spanning 22 countries

A total of 45 oil companies spanning 22 countries across Africa will meet with the world's leading fuel equipment suppliers in a dynamic program of conference sessions, technical workshops, service station visits, and one-to-one appointments and informal networking.

Fuel retailers range from local players to international oil companies – and control a combined portfolio of over 14,000 service stations. Companies include Vivo Energy, Sasol, Total, Shell, Engen, Puma Energy, Petromoc, Nigerian National Oil Corporation, National Oil Corporation Kenya, Chevron, BP, Allied Oil Ghana, Forte Oil, Mobil Oil Nigeria, Libya Oil Ethiopia, Pumangol, Petromoc and Oando.

Fifty-five vendor companies from as far as Argentina, China, Japan, the United States and Australia will be joining the oil companies in OpenRoom's unique speed meeting format where over 900 formal meetings and hours of informal conversations will take place.

The forum has the backing of five eminent companies as partners: Puma Energy as its Oil Company partner, Gilbarco Veeder-Root as Platinum, Bever Innovations as Gold and First African Holdings and the CGH Group as Silver.

PetroForum Africa 2015 takes place from 2-4 March in Johannesburg and is part of a global portfolio of meetings for the fuel retail sector organised by OpenRoom Events Ltd.

Petrolplaza supports the PetroForum as a Media Partner. Bruno Borewitsch, CEO of com-a-tec GmbH, will be present during the event. Com-a-tec operates Petrolplaza.
