

CEPSA opens up new LPG plant in Galicia region

Cepsa has recently inaugurated a new LPG plant which can serve for storage and packaging, the company said in a news release adding it was completed after spending 4.5 million euros.

“With the new plant we are ready to go accomplish our growth target for the northwest of the peninsula,” said Inigo Diaz de Espada, the company’s general director.

The northwest region of Spain, the portion right north of Portugal, is known as Galicia.
