

Puma Energy opens one of the world's largest buoy mooring systems

Puma Energy, the globally integrated midstream and downstream energy company, said in mid-April in a statement dated in Angola that it has opened one of the world's largest conventional buoy mooring systems in Luanda Bay.

"The fuel loading buoy anchored offshore serves as a strategic mooring point for Africa and it will allow a wide range of carriers to berth while loading or offloading oil product," Puma said.