

LED-product maker Bever opens subdivision for Spain and Portugal

Bever Innovations, which makes LED products for outdoor use, has opened a subdivision to serve the Portuguese and Spanish markets, the company said in a press release issued in June.

“With over 13,000 petrol stations, the Spain and Portugal market is one of the biggest in Europe. Already 10% of this market is using Bever products, according to the information.

Carlos Oliveira, who until recently was covering the coordination of European project management teams involved in design and construction of filling stations, will be in charge of the division.
