

Diamond Bank installs ATM at Total Nigeria stations

Nigerian retail bank Diamond Bank has partnered with Total Nigeria to deploy the bank's Automated Teller Machines (ATM) in select Total service stations across the country, reported on Diamond Bank's blog post.

A total of 21 Diamond Bank ATM kiosks have already been installed in Total Nigeria gas stations with the objective of making financial services more accessible to customers and provide more convenient lifestyle solutions.

"In addition, the partnership will enable Diamond Bank customers who need cash but do not have a debit card seamlessly carry out their transactions using the Magic Cash platform on the ATMs, as long as they are within access to a Total service station. However, it is pertinent to mention that the ATMs are not restricted to only Diamond Bank customers as other members of the public can use it," said Aisha Ahmed, Divisional Head, Consumer and Privilege Banking, Diamond Bank PLC.

It is also in line with Total Nigeria's "one centre strategy", said the company's Strategy Executive Director Jeff Nnamani, which implies that a customer can avail of different products and services and conveniently withdraw cash in a secure environment.
