

Video: Cloud-based solutions shape the future of gas stations

New technologies are changing the way all industries work. Cloud-based solutions, big data and digitalization are shaping the future of the fuel retailing industry.

Cutting costs, improving efficiency and having a more flexible business structure are only some of the benefits. Meanwhile, critics warn about issues such as security and accessibility.

We spoke to industry experts at UNITI expo 2016 about these new technologies and the effects they will have in the gas station business.

Reporting: Oscar Smith Diamante

Camera and edition: Cathrin Paulsen