

USA: Speedway converts to EMV installing new NCR terminals in all gas stations

U.S. fuel retailer Speedway LLC has selected NCR Corporation's pay the pump terminals to adapt its 2,770 gas stations to EMV.

NCR OPTIC is a modular, self service solution that comes in its standard configuration EMV ready with a touch screen, contactless reader (including mobile phones), 2D barcode scanner and mag stripe reader.

"We are a customer focused organization and as such, we are always looking for ways to add speed and simplicity for consumers, whether they are fueling, eating or shopping in our stores," said Tony Kenney, president, Speedway. "NCR's OPTIC solution allows us to continue to provide exceptional service for our valued customers."

Speedway is the United States' second largest company owned and operated convenience retailer.

"Extending the relationship with Speedway and providing our latest pay at the pump solutions, opens the door to more innovation. Our focus is to help customers, such as Speedway, build more efficient, profitable and connected businesses," said Michael Bayer, president, NCR Retail.
