Extension of Management Board at Hectronic GmbH

On 17 October 2018 Hectronic GmbH, with its headquarters in Bonndorf, appointed two further managing directors. Eckhard Fechtig and Frank Gampp have been promoted to the executive level of Hectronic to support Stefan Forster and take equal responsibility within the Hectronic GmbH. This decision takes account of the company growth in recent years. It is important to further expand the market position by targeted, strategic measures in all areas. The expansion of the management level is meant to contribute to a long-term, sustainable and stable company growth, with a watchful eye on the needs of the customers and of the whole industry.

The two future managing directors can already look back on a long-term affiliation with Hectronic. In 1981 Eckhard Fechtig started his vocational training as an IT and electronics technician at Kienzle in Villingen and was able to gain diverse experiences as a training officer and in the complete supply-chain-management. Various further education courses followed, such as the training as a data processing engineer. The first management responsibility was transferred to him as early as three years after completion of his training. Since 2002 Mr Fechtig has been plant manager at the Hectronic GmbH in Bonndorf and a member of the executive board with power of attorney; since 2008 he has been a member of the board for our subsidiary in India.

Frank Gampp started his career in 1990 with his training as a communications electrician, at that time still under the company name of Mannesmann-Kienzle. His vocational training was followed by education courses as a technical manager and a business economist that he took part-time alongside his work. He also acquired experience on the job in the support department and the product management of “Refuelling” before he took over the first management responsibility as head of product management in 2003. In 2008 he was appointed division manager of “Refuelling” and member of the executive board. At the same time he supervised the foundation of the Hectronic Vertriebs- und Service GmbH in Oberhausen and since then has been its managing director together with Stefan Schiefelbein. Meanwhile, the subsidiary has been successfully built up and expanded by the locations Bremen, Berlin and Leipzig.

In 2018 the professional career of the two men will be crowned by their appointment as managing directors of the Hectronic GmbH in Bonndorf. Our sincere congratulations! We wish them great success for the future tasks and look forward to a common, exciting and successful future with the new leading trio!
