GasBuddy announced a partnership with ExxonMobil to celebrate this year's TANKSgiving, a GasBuddy holiday that happens on the Thursday before Thanksgiving, grounded in the premise that millions of Americans are preparing to drive hundreds of miles to be with friends and family – requiring a lot of gas.

This year from November 14-15, GasBuddy and Exxon and Mobil stations will host the biggest TANKSgiving gas giveaway event, with more than $25,000 worth of fuel to be given away to drivers across the U.S.

“Traveling during this holiday can be a pain point for many consumers. TANKSgiving, on the other hand, is the complete opposite. We are thankful to partner with Exxon and Mobil stations this year to make the drive a little easier,” said Michael DiLorenzo, Chief Marketing Officer at GasBuddy.

On November 15 at a secret Exxon or Mobil gas station in the United States, people who are Exxon Mobil Rewards+ members will get up to $25 of free gas.
