

DIBt - German Centre of Competence for Construction

DIBt is the German approval body for non-regulated construction products and types of construction. As a provider of services and public functions, DIBt fulfils a large range of technical and regulatory tasks in the field of construction.

DIBt has approximately 200 members off staff and is divided into five divisions. It is headed by the President, Mr Gerhard Breitschaft.

Deutsches Institut für Bautechnik is a member of EOTA (European Organisation for Technical Assessment) and other important national and international organisations.

- We support safe and innovative building.
- As a technical approval and assessment body, we are your partner for technical and legal questions relating to construction products and techniques. We are active in Germany and Europe.
- Sound advice, rapid processing, transparency and results recognised by international experts are important to us.
- We permanently update our knowledge and use it together with our experience for the benefit of our industrial and public administration customers. Our approvals and assessments ensure wide acceptance of the construction products in the market.
