

HDIP - Hydrocarbon Development Institute of Pakistan

The Hydrocarbon Development Institute of Pakistan (HDIP) is the national petroleum Research & Development (R&D) organization. It is an autonomous body of the Ministry of Petroleum & Natural Resources established in 1975 under a Resolution of the Federal Government.

Mandate

The HDIP was re-established under an Act of the Parliament (Act No. 1 of 2006) for the purpose of “undertaking, promoting and guiding scientific research and development in the field of hydrocarbons, and for matters connected therewith or ancillary thereto”.

Vision

To be a national Research and Development Organization in Hydrocarbon sector.

Mission

Professional self reliance for sustainable energy development in Pakistan.

Contact information

HDIP - Hydrocarbon Development Institute of Pakistan

Plot No.18, Street 6, H-9/1,
Islamabad
Pakistan

 +92 51 9265204

 +92 51 9265207

 hdip.com.pk