

SPBI - Swedish Petroleum & Biofuels Institute

The Swedish Petroleum & Biofuels Institute (Svenska Petroleum & Biodrivmedel Institutet), established 1951, is the trade association for oil companies in Sweden with the aim to safeguard and promote the interests of the oil industry.

Its employees are some of Sweden's top experts to work with industry's most important issues. SPBI's experts work with technical functionality, environmental, safety and operational issues related to the use of fuels, liquid fuels, bitumen and lubricants, both from a logistics and user perspective. SPBI also develops recommendations for safe management and conducts industry-specific educational sessions.
