PRA - Petrol Retailers Association UK

The PRA is committed to supporting it's members to develop all aspects of their activities by offering information, services and advice which ensures that the independent fuel retailing sector can continue to grow and be competitive in an ever more challenging business environment. This also requires the PRA to challenge and work with all appropriate Government departments to ensure that the sustainability of independent forecourt retailers is properly considered.
We represent independent fuel retailers who now account for 70% of all UK forecourts and provide a voice for all retailers both large and small. We also represent the major operators and equipment manufactures of car wash equipment and have now absorbed members of the Car Wash Association into PRA membership.

The key objectives of the PRA are to ensure that membership provides real, quantifiable value that outweighs the annual subscription fee, and that the benefits we offer are of interest across the spectrum of our membership.

The Car Wash Association (CWA) was originally established in 2007 by wash operators and industry suppliers and is now officially incorporated as part of the Petrol Retailers Association (PRA).

It is a self-regulating industry body involevd in the practice of setting quality and safety standards by promoting best practice and fair competition.

It comprises PRA members who operate a car wash business including automatic roll over or conveyor wash, jet washing facilities or regulated hand wash. Vehicle washing equipment operators and manufacturers are corporate members.
