Amlite Ltd

Amlite is a market leader in the manufacture and supply of composite manhole covers and below ground containment systems to all sectors of civils infrastructure.

Examples of our range include

- Composite Manhole Covers
- Quick fit Pipe & Duct Seals
- Watertight Containment Chambers

Specialising in proven light weight, high strength materials, Amlite offer a cost- effective alternative to heavier traditional materials such as steel, brick and concrete.

These composite materials have seen massive growth in recent years with civil engineering and groundwork contractors turning increasingly to these new materials where clients are seeking a simple effective solution. Saving installation time and often reduced material costs are proving key elements why Amlite products are now being selected by customers around the World.

Amlite is proud to be a part of this change and is constantly adding to its product portfolio to further satisfy customer requirements.

Here at Amlite our philosophy is to put the customer first and we look forward to receiving your enquiry with a view to helping create a viable and cost effective solution to your project requirements....we are happy to help so please feel free to get in contact!
