SloanLED

Sloan Corporation was founded in 1957, as a supplier to the aircraft and aerospace industries.

By the 1970s, Sloan was deeply involved in LED lighting systems for industries requiring high-quality, long-life illumination.

Today, SloanLED supplies LED solutions to select industries in which it holds leadership positions. SloanLED's largest category is signage and architectural.

Supplying the petroleum market since 1996, the company specializes in large-scale, customized, cost-savings solutions for both new and existing locations.

Headquartered in California and with representatives and distribution throughout North America, Europe and Asia.
