

JS Aupperle

JS Aupperle GmbH is manufacturer and service provider. We manufacture the ALF tyre inflator line as digital electronic units and with dial gauges. Equipment is available as portable model with its own pressure vessel, for stationary mounting and also as a hand held unit. All units are approved by the German PTB. We also offer special customized software solutions if our standard units do not meet your requirements and application. We repair all tyre inflators as well as fuel dispensing nozzles, vacuum pumps, piston flowmeters and compressors. The spare parts for this equipment are also available. The newest addition to our product range are devices of pressure measurement instrumentation
